

history

display the list of commands previously entered in the terminal

man

display the manual (help page) for a given command

less

display the content of a file page by page

grep

find files matching some string or regular expression

sed

process text files to transform their content

cd

change the current working directory

ls

display folders content and/or files information

cp

copy files and/or directories (using the -r option)

mv

move or rename files and/or directories

rm

delete files and /or directories (with the -r option)

find

find files based on their characteristics (name, size, ...)

THE 11 COMMANDS I USE EVERYDAY

Sylvain Leroux | yesik.it

